

Designer with UX / UI Experience (m/w)

We need you, to help bring a zero waste future to life by getting users excited about our technology.

Resourcify GmbH is a technology company providing a cloud-platform for digital waste management, with a focus on simplicity, neutrality and sustainability. The company was founded in Hamburg in 2015 to help businesses easily manage their recycling, and recyclers to seamlessly connect with their customers online. Resourcify aspires to help the world transition to a sustainable and circular economy, with the digitisation of recycling.

We are looking for someone who shares our passion and is able to help support us on a part time basis as our creative needs expand.
